This cute elephant was stitched on a baby blanket, so to make it reversible (almost) it was stitched in double running stitch throughout. The outline is worked in two strands and the infill patterns of the flowers and the checked ear in a single strand. Baby blankets are washed often so the thread ends have to be finished well.

It can of course be stitched in backstitch if you prefer and in a colour of your choice.

The stitch count is 88 by 60 and measures 17 by 10.5 centimetres on 14 count Aida
